

Global Project Executive

ACNielsen is an international market research company with branches in 100 different countries. We provide the manufacturers and importers of consumer goods with information to help them plan their marketing strategies. ACNielsen's Global Services offices are located with the ACNielsen Swiss office in Root/Luzern.

We are looking for an additional project-executive in a small, international team with global clients, starting as soon as possible.

Your responsibilities:

- Design and implementation of global data reports for international fast moving consumer goods (FMCG) manufacturers
- Manage and co-ordinate International Database and Top-line set-up projects

Your skills:

- English written and spoken (advanced knowledge)
- Logical and analytical skills
- Numeracy is essential
- Strong communication skills
- Knowledge of MS Office (Excel, Word, Outlook)

You are in regular contact with our international sales force and clients as well as ACNielsen offices around the world to specify new products and its detailed product descriptions.

We are offering an interesting and challenging position in a young international team as well as up-to-date working conditions.
